No One Knows the Next Move on the Frontier.

SOME PROSPECTS OF PEACE.

Still Others Believe That the Mischievous Red Skins are Only Awaiting an Opportunity to Strike a Fatal Blow—Latest Dispatches from the Frontier.

OMAHA, Nov. 26.—Just what the next move at Pine Ridge will be Gen. Brooke and Agent Royer alone can tell. All day yesterday the work of handing out rations continued uninterruptedly and is still on. Quite a number of ghost dancers came down to within a mile of the agency but refused to come nearer. There is a village near Red Cloud's house containing 153 of the implacables.

Little Wound was at the agency a short time but soon retired. He conversed with no one on the subject of ghost dancing and several alleged interviews with him are denounced as purely imaginary. A letter was sent out last Saturday as having been written by Little Wound to Agent Royer. It is now known that that letter was written in the agency office by a teacher while at the time Little Wound was forty miles away. His camp is reported coming in for rations despite his objection to the move. Red Cloud has written to Dr. George L. Miller, of Omaha denying that he has at anytime given his consent or counsel to the ghost dancing. A conference between Gen. Brooke, Agent Royer and Special Agent Cooper was held yesterday.

One result of the conference was that an order has been issued that there must be less communication between the whites and the Indians.

A. R. Assay, Jr., who was once a post trader at Pine Ridge, and whose brother is similarly engaged now, was ordered off the reservation yesterday. Just what his offense was is not given out by the commandant, but it is likely he talked too much. Assay left. All day long Indians have been coming, and very quietly, too. Not a sign or word of trouble is seen or heard. Four more companies of the Second infantry from Fort Omaha have gone into camp at the agency. The cavalry has moved back a mile from the post to be nearer water.

At army headquarters it was given out that the Sixth cavalry was to be removed at once from Texas and New Mexico and quartered at Fort Meade, S. Dak. Reports from various towns along the reservation border are to the effect that the scare is dying out and excitement rapidly subsiding. All reports that the Santee Sioux of the Panca Indians are uneasy or inclined to become disciples of the new Messiah are utterly false. The dances that have recently been held are what are known as grass dances, which are not in any way similar to the ghost. The Winnebago Indians have been here on a visit, and at that time the grass dance was indulged in as an entertainment to the visitors.

From Standing Rock Agency.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 26.—A Standing Rock Agency, N. Dak., special to The Tribune says: The two Indian scouts sent out Saturday night by Col. Drum, commanding Fort Yates, with instructions to scour the country between here and Sitting Bull's camp, and ascertain if any Indians were on the warpath and the state of affairs at Sitting Bull's camp, returned last evening, and report having seen no Indians on the warpath. They went to Bull's camp on the Grand river. They being known to Bull as military scouts, they were at once suspected as spies, and were treated very harshly by Bull and others. Bull asked them their business out there. They said they were after two deserters from the post, which, of course, Bull knew to be untrue. Bull told them he understood there were 2,000 soldiers coming to take him and his property, "but," said he, "I have runners coming and going every day, and know everything that goes on there, and as soon as these soldiers come I will take my family and ponies and these that will follow me and leave, and they will not get me."

Continuing, he said to the scouts: "You see we have abandoned the white men's houses and are living in our native tepees, and will not return to the houses nor to the agency."

The supposition here is that if Bull hears of any serious trouble at the lower agency, or if the military attempt to take him, he will at once break camp on the Grand river and join the hostiles at the lower agencies, thereby declaring war against the government. Bull's son-in-law was in yesterday and when questioned as to whether or not Bull was coming in, said: "No; he was never coming until the military overpowered him." Hopes are yet entertained that all will pass off quietly and that cold weather will put a stop to the nonsense. A howling Dakota blizzard would be a godsend to the Dakotas about now.

From Pierre, South Dakota.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 26.—A Pierre, S. Dak., special to The Tribune says: Parties returning from the Cheyenne agency, where the Indians were given their monthly issue of rations, state everything appears to be quiet and very orderly, but with several companies of troops also present. At the hostile camp on Cherry creek, which is a sub-agency and run by Hump and Big Foot, a report stated that the Indians all assembled yesterday, and when the cattle were driven to be slaughtered and divided, the mounted Indians swooped down and captured the entire herd and drove them to their village, one mile away where the issue was made to suit themselves. A white man named Henry Argell and a half-breed were in charge, but when they saw the ugly disposition apparent they offered no resistance and started for the Cheyenne agency to report. Capt. Hearst, commander of troops there, states that the hostiles have procured a large amount of firearms and ammunition and are, in fact, better armed than the troops.

Only a Canard.

SHAWANO, Wis., Nov. 26.—The story of Indian troubles reported at the Keshena agency, where Sherry's camp was said to have been surrounded by Indians, proved to be a canard. Sherry, who had commenced logging operations on a closed section had to cross Indian land to reach the scene of his lumbering operations. He was promptly notified by the Indians to desist crossing, but paid no attention to their orders, and his foreman received word to break camp and remove to Shawano. The story of the outbreak was started by some of Sherry's men in order to create excitement and make themselves heroes in the eyes of the people.

No Raids Feared.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 26.—Governor Thayer said last night that he did not anticipate any raids on Nebraska territory, though he was taking all precautions to protect the settlers. A number of independent companies have been organizing in the northern part of the state and they are being supplied with arms and ammunition. Gen. L. W. Colby, commanding the Nebraska National guards, has reported to Governor Thayer that two regiments of infantry, one company of light artillery and one troop of cavalry are ready for immediate service if needed on the Indian frontier.

At Headquarters.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—All the dispatches from the northwest received at army headquarters yesterday were of so reassuring a nature that Gen. Miles left for home hours earlier than he has done for a week past. Just before his departure the following dispatch was received from Gen. Ruger, at St. Paul: "Following of this date received from commanding officer at Fort Yates. 'Little change in situation. Scouts report no Indians gone on warpath. Reports indicate Sitting Bull and followers badly frightened.'

Dispatches received from Gen. Brooke at Pine Ridge were to the effect that all was quiet and everything pleasant."

While reading this Gen. Miles remarked that the Indians were great braggadocios and that it was hard to tell what a day or two might bring forth. It was time that effective measures were taken to put a stop to all nonsense among the redskins, and to prevent the possibility of their making trouble every few years. Last night Adjt. Gen. Williams stated that a dispatch had been received from Gen. Ruger to the effect that his advices proved that an elaborate report sent out yesterday regarding some 600 Indians at Devil's Lake and [illegible] the Rock leaving the reservation and preparing for the warpath, was false in every particular. The Indians at these points are loyalists.

As Reported to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Acting Commissioner Belt of the Indian bureau has received a telegram from Agent Cooper, of the Pine Ridge agency, dated that night, stating that the loyal Indians are hurrying in for rations, while the turbulent ones are slow about coming in. The presence of the military, the dispatch says, is having a subduing effect over the Indians. Mr. Cooper also reports that he has just sworn in additional police, making a total of 100 men.

THE DANCE DESCRIBED.

It is the Old Sun Dance With Only a New Name.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—A letter has been received by the American Missionary association from Miss M. C. Collins, whose regular station is on the Grand river, Dakota. She wrote Nov. 15 of the present Indian excitement: "I have been up to Sitting Bull's and the dance is in full blast. It is a most terrible thing—the old sun dance with a new name. They dance facing the sun as long as possible and fall down, moan, groan and whoop and foam at the mouth like mad dogs. They do not yet cut their bodies, but that will soon come. The men all dress in war dress in paint and feathers, and the women also take part and paint and wear feathers, which is a new feature (women never wear feathers).

"Sitting Bull stayed in a sacred tent, and every one entering the dance for the first time went into the tent to be made 'wakan' and painted with crescents on the forehead, cheeks and chin and a cross on the nose. I went into the tent and talked with the old man. He assented to everything but promised nothing. He means war."

Miss Collins states that Sitting Bull has told the Indians to pay no attention to the orders of the agent or to the president; that he would bewitch the ammunition of the soldiers so the guns won't kill. He is thoroughly and hopelessly bad.

Newspaper Changes Hands.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26.—The stockholders of The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette have elected Richard Smith president of The Commercial Gazette company in place of Murat Halstead. There will be no changes in the present staff, which will be retained. Mr. Halstead has sold some of his stock to solid business men—none to politicians.

Child Burned to Death.

MONTPELIER, Ind., Nov. 26.—Joseph Lindis, living three miles east of this city, lost his 3-year-old child by its clothes catching fire while its mother went into the yard for a load of wood. She was only gone a few moments, but she could not do anything after coming into the house.

Death of an Ex-Governor.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 26.—James Milton Smith, ex-governor of Georgia and judge of the supreme court of this circuit, died yesterday afternoon.

The Weather.

Fair, cooler weather, northwesterly winds.

NEW PENSION LAWS.

Constructions Placed Upon Certain Recent Acts.

ONE DECISION ON CLAIMS.

Assistant Secretary Bussey Discusses Very Freely the Extent and Scope of the Act of June 27, 1890—Other Interesting News Telegraphed from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Some days ago, Secretary Noble referred to Assistant Secretary Bussey for his consideration and decision the following communication from Commissioner of Pensions Raum, in regard to claims that arise under the act of June 27, 1890. "The law requires among other things, a minimum service of ninety days, and seems to require also an honorable discharge therefrom. Where it is shown that soldiers served over ninety days and were honorably discharged, re-enlisted in the same or other organization, and was dishonorably discharged, or deserted therefrom, would he have status to apply for a pension under the act of June 27, 1890."

In answering the inquiry Gen. Bussey discusses very fully the extent and scope of the act of June 27, 1890, and in conclusion says: "It is clear that the least period of pensionable service under the act of June 27, 1890, must embrace ninety days, and that the claimant must prove an honorable discharge therefrom; but you ask, substantially: If claimant shall show an honorable discharge from the minimum service of ninety days, and yet it appears that he re-enlisted in 'the same or other organization and was dishonorably discharged, or deserted therefrom, would he have status to apply for a pension under the act of June 27, 1890?'

"The answer to this portion of your inquiry is a simple one. It is evident that, if the soldier, after receiving an honorable discharge from the original service of ninety days, had never re-enlisted, he would occupy a pensionable status, he might become a dependent pensioner under the act of June 27, 1890, by reason of his service; but the fact that he re-enlisted put him back into the service and rendered him non-pensionable during his second term of enlistment. The re-enlistment is construed as a continuation of the soldier in the same service from which, according to the new law there must ultimately be an honorable discharge as a prerequisite to pensionable dependence.

"If the soldier were a claimant for invalid pension under the general law, his dishonorable discharge, so far from being a bar, would not impair his claim if based upon a disability incurred in the line of duty; he might, upon competent evidence, be pensioned under the ruling in the case of Daniel B. Kauffman. But the act of June 27, 1890, is not an act for pensioning claimants for pensionable disabilities which originated in the line of duty. It is an act providing pensions for present dependence without reference to causes due to the services; and a final and honorable discharge is in such cases an essential matter of proof.

"An honorable discharge from the service under the soldier's first enlistment did not, nor could it, alone establish his title to pension on account of that enlistment; and it would be absurd to hold that the dishonorable discharge from the second enlistment was cured or neutralized by the honorable discharge from the first. A soldier cannot be pensioned at all under any statute without a final discharge from the service, and the act of June 27, 1890, requires that such a final discharge shall be an 'honorable' one as a condition of pension under its provisions.

"In the case of desertion, it is held now that a deserter is not discharged, but is, constructively, in the service; and, therefore, in order that a soldier charged with desertion, whether guilty or not, may acquire a pensionable status under this or any other act, it is necessary that he procure an expurgation of the charge from the records of the war department, and thereupon an honorable discharge from the service, or that he shall have returned to the service subsequent to the record of his desertion, and been thereafter honorably discharged. The discharge would, of course, terminate his status as a deserter, and to that extent render him eligible under the act of June 27, 1890, or under any other statute, upon proof of pensionable cause."

Inspecting Cattle.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The work of inspecting cattle for export by the department of agriculture is now fairly under way. The agents of the bureau of animal industry have during the past few days inspected 6,950 head of cattle. The ports at which the inspection of these cattle was made were Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Newport News, the largest number being shipped from Boston.

The work of inspection involves a large amount of labor, for not only must all the cattle be inspected by the veterinary officer, but each animal must be tagged by his assistants with a metal tag bearing a number by which the animal can be identified, so that were the inspectors on the other side to find any animal suffering from a contagious disease the symptoms of which might have become manifest while in transit, the authorities here could at once be advised, and, by reference to the number of the diseased animal, the disease could be traced at once to the farm where the animal came. The destinations of the cattle so inspected were as follows: Glasgow, 6,6 head; Liverpool, 3,397 head; London, [illegible]; Havre, 955 head; Marseilles, [illegible].

Since the establishment, Aug. 23, of a system of inspection by American official veterinarians of all cattle landed in British ports from the United States, the veterinary officers of the department of agriculture have inspected up to [illegible] 8, 100,000 cattle, lacking a few head.

Exports and Imports.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Exports of merchandise from the United States during October past were valued at $88,326,940, against [illegible] 46 in October, 1889.

Imports during October past were valued at $[illegible], against $68,7[illegible],155 in October, 1889.

Arrival of Immigrants.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—During October past 46,357 immigrants came to this country against 35,011 in October, 1889. Germany supplied 10,110, England and Wales 6,111, Ireland 3,645, Italy 6,609, Sweden and Norway 4,052, Hungary 2,512 and Poland 1,235.

SLAVE STEALING.

Startling State of Affairs in South America.

PANAMA, Nov. 26.—The following is a translation of a dispatch forwarded by the minister of foreign affairs of Colombia to the representative of the republic of Brazil:

"Information has been received respecting crimes committed in Colombian territory, at Caqueta, where Brazilians have captured natives of Colombia and carried them off to the Putumayo river and its affluents, where they have been sold as slaves. Other atrocious crimes have been committed, due to there being no Colombian authorities being stationed there."

In another dispatch the Colombian minister of foreign affairs states that the man hunters travel in steam launches, and that they commit crimes which are a disgrace to humanity, and which are so vile that they would shock the savage dwellers in the heart of Africa. [As slavery is abolished in Brazil, either this must be untrue, or law under the new republic of Brazil fails of execution.]

New York Firm Assigns.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Richard H. Allen & Company, composed of Thomas H. and Henry Allen, of Memphis, Tenn., and Richard H. Allen, of Pelham Manor, doing a banking and cotton business at 31 and 33 Broad street, assigned yesterday to Frank K. Walter without preference. Richard H. Allen also made an individual assignment with preferences to the same assignee. The firm's credit was of the highest kind, being rated at the agencies at $1,000,000. At present nothing can be learned of the liabilities, but on the Cotton Exchange it said they will very probably reach into the millions.

Not at All Surprised.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—The Navassa rioters and murderers, George Singleton Key, Edward Smith, and Henry Jones, who are in jail under sentence of death, when told of the decision handed down in their case in the United States supreme court yesterday, expressed no surprise and were apparently unconcerned. The are hopeful that the president will commute their sentences. Should he not do so, they are, they say ready to march to the death.

Her Good Work Ended.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Jane Grant Gilmer Howard, widow of the late Gen. Benjamin C. Howard died yesterday. She was conspicuously identified with social life and charitable work. She was for years president of the Great Southern relief association, and in 1865 inaugurated a fair in this city which netted $200,000 for the southern civil war sufferers. Her life was one long career of good works.

Will Play in the Pen for Seven Years.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Charles Crumley Webster, the old actor who shot and killed Robert McNeill, in West Twenty-second street, on Aug. 19, was yesterday sentenced to seven years' imprisonment.

Senatorial Caucus.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 26.—The senatorial caucus adjourned after the twenty-eighth ballot last night without nomination. The votes stood, Pugh 7, Kolb 35, Seay 26, Watts 13. Necessary choice 63.

An Infant Burned to Death.

MONTPELIER, Ind., Nov. 26.—Joseph Lindis, living three miles east of this city, lost his 3 year-old child Monday by its clothes catching fire while its mother went into the yard for a load of wood.

APPALLING ACCIDENT.

Five Persons Instantly Killed and Several Others Injured.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 26.—The most appalling accident that ever was recorded in this locality occurred yesterday morning. The nest of boilers in E. D. Jewett's mill, at South Bay, exploded with terrific force, instantly killing five persons and seriously injuring several others. One of the boilers was hurled one hundred feet from the mill!

The following is a list of the names of those killed:

Henry Baird, head severed from the body.

James Baird, son of Henry

Bert Currie, aged 8 years

Andrew Wark, aged 24

Michael Lynch.

Those thought to be fatally injured are: Patrick Lynch, R. Hayes and Peter Harrington.

The boilers were old and badly worn.

Robbed of a Large Amount.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 26.—William Clark, president of the Sheboygan, Wis., Electric Light and Power company, was robbed of $[illegible] last night while on his way to the Northwestern depot. Mr. Clark had been in the city to raise a sum of money to pay off a mortgage, and [illegible] he paid out $3,000 for machinery [illegible] placed the balance in a satchel and started for home. While on his way he was stopped by two men, one of whom threw what Mr. Clark thinks was sand in his face, the other snatching his satchel, both making their escape. There is no clew to the highwaymen.

OHIO STATE NEWS.

Items Gathered Especially For Buckeye Readers.

A "SOCIAL" CLUB REBUKED.

Waynesville Citizens Foiled in an Attempt to Evade the Prohibition Ordinance of the Village—Trouble in Store for the Standard Oil Company—Other State Dispatches.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 26.—The Waynesville club, of Waynesville, Warren county, O., filed application in the secretary of state's office for a charter for a social club, the declared object of which was to provide social entertainment and other means of recreation for its members, and also to furnish a weekly benefit in case of sickness and a funeral benefit in case of death.

Satisfactory evidence has been filed in the office of the secretary of state, which shows that the real object of the club is to traffic in intoxicating liquors in evasion of the prohibitory ordinance of the village of Waynesville. Upon this state of facts being furnished to the secretary of state he declined to issue the charter, and returned the same to the attorney of the club.

Shot His Brother-in-Law.

LOGAN, O., Nov. 26.—Last night at Murray City, in this county, Henry McCurtiss shot his brother-in-law, Mart Laffallett. It was the result of a quarrel about a woman of ill repute that McCurtiss was keeping in a shanty on the grounds of Laffallett, and the breaking of the window in McCurtiss' shanty. Laffallett and his wife objected to the woman being there. Laffallett was shot twice, once in the hand and once in the left breast. His physician says he will die. McCurtiss was lodged in jail at Logan.

Opposition to the Coke Combine.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 26.—H. E. Passavant, secretary of the Iron Manufacturers' Association of the Mahoning Valley has just returned from a trip through the Shenango valley, where he interviewed many of the furnace operators with the result that the operators in both the valleys will stand firm against the coke combine, and, if necessary, will close down all the furnaces sooner than submit to their dictation.

Killed by a Falling Safe.

CANTON, O., Nov. 26.—A frightful accident happened at the Diebold safe works yesterday. Several men were engaged in moving safes on an overhead railroad, when the apparatus gave way. A heavy iron safe came down, striking Charles Sturm, crushing his head to a pulp and killing him instantly. Two other workmen, named John Glasser and William Eppman, were seriously and perhaps fatally injured.

Crazed on Christian Science.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 26.—Charles Lester Carr, a very bright student, formerly at Delaware university, and later at the College of Music, Cincinnati, was adjudged insane here Tuesday. He went daft over Christian science, saying it was no use to work as he could get anything he wanted by prayers. His father is a hotel keeper at South Charleston, this county.

New Incorporations.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 26.—Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state yesterday as follows: The Randolph Law and Order League, Taylorsburg, Montgomery; The Oppman Brewing company, Cleveland, increased from $150,000 to $[illegible]00,000; Akron German Landwehr Unterstuetzungs Verein, Akron.

Skipped from the Officers.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT OPENED.

The Queen's Speech Read by the Lord Chancellor—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Immediately after the house of commons had been called to order yesterday the lord chancellor arose and read the queen's speech from the throne.

The speech declares the relations of her majesty's government with those of the various foreign powers to be unchanged, and congratulates her subjects that the securities for the continued maintenance of peace appear to be undiminished.

Negotiations with Italy in regard to the frontiers of British territory in northeast Africa and Abyssinia, are in progress, although as yet no treaty with Italy on African affairs has yet been ratified.

With the King of Portugal a temporary arrangement has been made by her majesty's government whereby the most urgent questions at issue between Great Britain and Portugal as to their respective interests in Africa can be satisfactorily dealt with pending the results of further negotiation.

The speech says that negotiations have been opened with France on the subject of the Newfoundland fisheries, and the hope is expressed that a solution of this vexed question, satisfactory to all the parties at interest, may be speedily reached.

In the preparation of the estimate for the coming year, parliament might feel assured that the interests of strict economy would be preserved.

Her majesty views with pleasure the general condition of Ireland, which has sensibly improved under the operation of recent salutary legislation for the government of that country. Deep regret is expressed, however, that the serious deficiency in the potato crop in certain sections of the country threatens a recurrence of periods of severe distress to which the people of western Ireland are peculiarly exposed by reason of the industrial and economic conditions under which they live.

In this connection the hope is expressed that the measures taken and being taken by her majesty's government may at once mitigate the immediate evil and diminish the probability of its recurrence. It appears to her majesty desirable, in order to secure an increase of contentment and a diminution of political disturbances in Ireland, that measures be taken for augmenting the number of proprietors engaged in the actual cultivation of the land.

The speech then recites the various measures which the government proposes to place before parliament at the present session.

Among these will be one for facilitating the transaction in Scotland and Ireland of the more important stages of private legislation affecting those countries.

Mail Sorted on the Atlantic.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—The North German Gazette announces that arrangements have been concluded between the imperial postoffice authorities and United States Postmaster General Wanamaker for the establishment of postoffices on board the German mail steamers. The object of this arrangement is to have the mails sorted while in transit. Postal Director Sachse goes to New York and Washington to settle the details.

Panic at Buenos Ayres.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres says a financial crisis prevailed in that city yesterday. Several credit houses have closed. There was a tumult on the bourse and the police were called upon to quell the disturbance. The premium on gold advanced from 225 to 250 and closed at the latter figure.

Maniac With Murderous Intent.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 26.—Jasper M. Kutan, aged 19 years, was released from the insane asylum at Indianapolis, a few days ago, as cured. He became violent again last week, and has carried a jagged piece of glass about with him, threatening to kill his parents and other relatives. He told his father and mother that they had better go to bed and get all the sleep they could, as they had only so long to live. He was returned to the asylum.

If Your House is on Fire

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure and get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

A Strange Wager in Vienna.

A curious wager is at present occupying the attention of such widely separated classes as our young noblemen and the Association of Hotel and Restaurant Waiters in Vienna. Several of the younger scions of the highest Austrian aristocracy, who were accustomed to dine in an old hotel of high repute in the Karnthner strasse, took exception to the practice of the waiters, most of whom have seen twenty or thirty years' service, in dressing their mustaches in just the same fashion as the "noble swells" they had to serve. One of the high born customers accordingly laid a wager with some of his friends, which was immediately accepted, that within a given time the objectionable adornment should disappear from the upper lips of the waiters in all the fashionable hotels and restaurants in Vienna, otherwise the proposer himself was to shave off his own embellishment for a given period.

In order to effect his purpose the latter commenced by trying to persuade the hotel keeper in the Karnthner strasse to forbid all his servants wearing mustaches on penalty of losing his aristocratic customers. In this case he succeeded, but the waiters, who were mostly married men, one after another gave notice to leave their places. They were at once replaced by younger men, who for a consideration submitted to the imposed humiliation. The same thing happened in a number of other hotels and restaurants, and the wager was nearly won by the layer when the proprietor of the Hotel Imperial, the first hotel in Vienna, flatly refused to comply with the whim of the Vienna jeunesse doree, whom he told outright that if they deserted his house he should readily find better customers.

The case was also taken up, "as matter of right and honor," by the Association of Waiters, which threatened to expel from the society any member degrading himself by humoring aristocratic caprice in this matter. Thus the matter stands at the present moment. The bet appears likely to be lost, and then will come the triumph of the waiters, who expect soon to have the satisfaction of seeing their would be dictator instead of themselves going about with shaven lip. —Cor. London Standard.

One on Mr. Depew.

They say that when Mr. Depew came recently from Europe the usual swarm of yarn spinners gathered nightly in the smoking room to tell stories and chat about things in general. Every soul save one in the party kept his end up. The exceptional member of the party did not laugh or indicate by even a twinkle of the eyes any interest in the funniest jokes, and was as silent as a door knob at the best stories. This conduct began to nettle Mr. Depew and the other spirits, and when the final seance came around they had lost all patience with the reticent and unresponsive stranger. Mr. Depew was selected to bring him to terms. They were all comfortably seated and in came the stranger.

"See here, my dear sir," said Mr. Depew, "won't you tell a story?" "I never told one in my life." "Sing a song?" "Can't sing." "Know any jokes?" persisted Mr. Depew. "No." Mr. Depew and all were prepared to give it up when the stranger stammered and hesitated, and finally made it known that he knew just one conundrum. "Give it to us," said Mr. Depew and the others in chorus. "What is the difference between a turkey and me?" solemnly asked the stranger. "Give it up," said Chairman Depew. "The difference between a turkey and me," mildly said the stranger, "is that they usually stuff the bird with chestnuts after death. I am alive."—Illustrated American.

Double Cabbed Engines.

At the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company's shops at Utica eighty men, mostly skilled mechanics, are employed. At the present time they are working on a peculiar locomotive known as the culm burner. The engine is queerly shaped, having two cabs, one for the engineer and one for the fireman. Under the boiler and firebox the machine has six large driving wheels. The weight of these great mogul engines is between thirty-five and sixty tons each. They are made to haul heavy freight trains. The machinery is so arranged that the steam is never exhausted. They are valuable also for the reason that their fuel is the refuse coal from the mines, which could not otherwise be used without a great loss.—Albany Argus.

A Queer Mark Going

A historical curiosity of the oldest railway in Germany is about to be relegated to oblivion. When the Nurnberg-Furth line, the first railway on German soil, replaced the old Thurn and Taxis yellow post, a yellow stripe was painted on every car, and for fifty-five years it has remained a unique reminder of the ante-railway age. The Bavarian government, however, has just ordered that this stripe be painted out, in order that the Nurnberg Furth cars may conform in appearance with all other railway cars in Bavaria.—Berlin Letter.

Don't forget to always take a good view of the locality before firing even at the legitimate object. This will save a few accidents if pursued by all shooters, or, at any rate, you will seriously avoid so ever ing shot over a dear friend behind some bush or hedge.

Don't fire at a bird flying low unless all is clear in front beyond to at least 200 yards for a shot gun and absolutely clear for a rifle. Sir Ralph Payne Gallwey, in "Letter to Young Shooters," says he has known a man's eye seriously damaged by shot at 161 yards.

Don't omit all possible precautions for safety. Aim rather to be a safe, sure gunner than a brilliant one. The one reputation you can keep as long as you can carry a gun, and the other you cannot keep to the end under any circumstances. Choose, therefore, the most enduring.

Don't forget to extract your cartridges when climbing fences, crossing rough places and crawling through a hedge or other obstruction. You can load again in a second, and the precaution is far better than the risk—you may fall or slip, and the loaded gun is no respecter of persons.

Don't allow any obstruction, such as snow, mud, etc., to clog the muzzle of your gun. Such obstructions are compressed by the force of the powder instead of being forced out in the form of a bolt. Look through your barrels before loading for the day's shooting, and if you have a missfire also look or blow through them.

Don't carry the gun in your hand. The far and away safest position is on your shoulder, with the rib facing downward. This position is, of course, for such times as when you do not expect to use the gun very often. At other times carry it on the arm, muzzle pointing front. When standing and waiting for birds or game rest the butt against the right thigh, muzzles up.—The Week's Sport.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

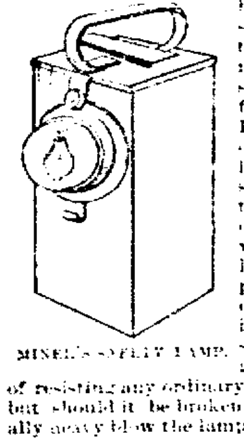
INFORMATION OF INTEREST TO A LARGE CLASS OF READERS.

Illustrated Description of a Miner's Safety Lamp, the Invention of a Norwegian Electrical Engineer, Which Is Attracting Attention in England.

The disastrous results of the use of naked lights in coal pits have been demonstrated times without number, but the men will still take the risk rather than work with the so called safety lamps. They find that their eyes are impaired [illegible] by the small, glimmering light which the protected lamps afford, and so they prefer the better illumination even with the greatest danger.

Naturally we turn to the electric light for the thing needful, and several attempts have been made to produce a miner's electric lamp. As might have been expected, there have been failures. Both primary and secondary batteries have been contrived, but without satisfactory results.

A Norwegian electrician has, however, invented a lamp which he believes will meet the conditions of the case. It has been subjected to severe practical tests in the coal mines of Staffordshire with satisfactory results. Pall Mall Budget describes this lamp as being considerably smaller than a Davy, and of about the same weight, being a little over three pounds. The incandescent lamp is protected by a strong, hollow glass lens, capable of resisting any ordinary knocking about, but should it be broken by an exceptionally heavy blow the lamp will be instantly displaced and the filament become cold before the gas could come in contact with it. The speciality of the invention is the accumulator, which has great storage capacity in small compass. It is recharged direct from a dynamo.



MINER'S SAFETY LAMP.

The cover which locks the rim of the bullseye is securely closed by a key, and all risk of the lamp being tampered with is removed. The construction is very simple, and so the cost should be very moderate if manufactured on a large scale. The original cost would be greater than an oil lamp, but the cost of maintenance would be less. The light given is three or four times greater than by a safety lamp.

Changing the Color of Flowers.

M. Filhol, a distinguished savant, exhibited to the Scientific Association, Paris, results obtained by subjecting flowers to the influence of a mixture of sulphuric ether and some drops of ammonia. He showed that under the influence of this liquid a great number of violets and roses turned a deep green.

The following experiments may be attempted by any reader who is interested: Some ether is poured into a glass, and to it is added a small quantity of liquid ammonia—about one-tenth of the volume. The flowers are then plunged into the fluid (see cut). Flowers whose natural color is red or violet take instantly a bright green tint. Other flowers, the colors of which are not the same shade, take different tints when in contact with ammoniacal ether. The upper petal of the sweet pea, for instance, becomes dark blue, while the lower petal turns a bright green. White flowers usually turn yellow, red geranium turns blue, while red snapdragon turns brown. Yellow flowers preserve their natural color. The action of this liquid is so rapid that it is easy to procure green spots by pouring here and there a drop of the solution. The most curious changes of color are shown by flowers which are composed of different tints, their red streaks turning green, the white yellow, etc. Flowers subjected to these changes and then are plunged into pure water retain their new tints for several hours, after which they gradually return to their natural color.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

Some Simple but Effective Decorative Work—Darned Backgrounds.

Sofa pillows to be recommended to ladies weary of the elaborate constructions of silk, plush, embroidery, etc., are made of fine twilled linen material. This sounds plain enough and as if it is not good enough for the purpose, but cover it with a wavy pattern worked in back stitch with yellow silk, embroider over this a bold pattern in conventional style, and the linen material will be found good enough for any pillow in any room. The stitched background has all the effect of fine quilting, and it is a pity that work is not more frequently done in this style.

For small articles about the house, such as book covers, blotting cases, wall pockets and the like, a revival of the darned backgrounds, once so popular, has taken place. The design is merely outlined and lightly filled in, and hence is doubly effective against the darker and artistically irregular stitches of the foundation. The work is easy, the worker's attention being mainly required to keep the line of stitches quite straight.

Very handsome covers for tables, sofa pillows, etc., have come out in felt, the design for the embroidery in stamping and perforation, with the colors to be used in the work suggested in the stamping.

Some of the prettiest splashers for washstand backs are worked upon twilled material with coarse flax thread. They are cut in the shape of a shield at the sides and bottom, and have a deep hem along the straight upper edge, through which a smooth lath can be passed. The splasher is then hung up by a loop of cord and handsome tassels.

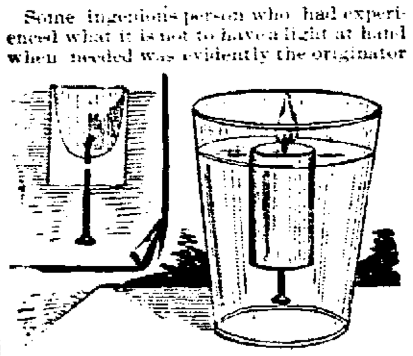
How to Clean Brasses and Bronzes.

The brass articles that are fashionable just now require careful attention to keep them clean and bright. If not lacquered, rub sweet oil on the flannel, then rub them over with rotten stone, using a second piece of flannel, finally polish with a chamois. If lacquered, wash with a soft brush in warm water and soap, wipe well, and set before the fire until perfectly dry.

Bronzes are cleaned with sweet oil rubbed on with a brush, then rub off with a second brush and polish with a chamois. Another plan is to plunge them into boiling water until very hot, then wash with flannel and yellow soap, drying carefully with soft rags. If soap and water prove ineffectual try beeswax dissolved in turpentine, rubbed on and off with clean, soft rags.

An Ingenious Arrangement.

Some ingenious person who had experienced what it is not to have a light at hand when needed was evidently the originator of the contrivance shown in the cut. It is intended to serve as a night light and requires little description.



AN IMPROVISED NIGHT LIGHT.

In a tumbler filled with water a piece of a paraffine candle is placed, after having been weighted by a nail stuck in the lower end to keep the candle floating.

Breakfast Dishes.

Fish makes capital breakfast dishes, either flaked, tossed in a little white sauce of butter, seasoned and served piled on croutons of fried bread, or made into cutlets, or steamed in little molds and served with anchovy sauce, or in omelets. Eggs again are excellent. The following makes a very pretty dish: Have ready some boiling lard and slip into it as many whole eggs as you require and let them fry, stirring the fat the whole time, so as to keep up a circular motion. When cooked lift them out and serve on croutons of fried bread, spread with either ham or anchovy butter, or on a bed of spinach.

Chestnut Pudding.

Chestnut pudding is not a well known dish and is seldom made, but almost every one who tries it likes it. Remove the shells from one quart of chestnuts, boil them for ten minutes, pour them into cold water and remove the under skin. Place them in a stewpan with one quart of milk, stew slowly until the nuts soften, then add a pinch of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two level tablespoonfuls of flour mixed smooth in a little cold milk, and stir until it begins to thicken. Pour into a well buttered pudding dish and bake fifteen minutes. If liked one or two eggs may be added.

Pumpkin Pies.

Pumpkin for pies may be either baked or stewed. In the first case cut the pumpkin into large pieces, bake with the skin on, and scoop out the soft pulp when cooked. In the second pare a small pumpkin, remove the seeds, stew it rather dry, and strain it through a colander. Add two quarts of milk, three eggs, three tablespoonfuls of molasses, and sugar to sweeten to taste, season with a tablespoonful of ginger, two of ground cinnamon and two [illegible], and you will have an old fashioned pumpkin pie.

A Ginger Sweetmeat.

A Good Housekeeping correspondent gives the following recipe for "ginger pears." It is [illegible] preserved ginger. Two pounds of hard pears, cut in halves and cored. Make a syrup of 1½ pounds of either white or brown sugar, one half [illegible] of white ginger root and 1½ cups of water. When it has boiled five minutes put in the fruit and boil until at least [illegible] Very [illegible] This will fill two jars.

"W[illegible] it's value?"

"W[illegible] hours to write [illegible] that poem."

"I [illegible] over a [illegible] editorial [illegible]" mused Mr. Clugston.

"And it seems to me it ought to be worth $50."

"Are you aware, Mr.—"

"My name is Isnoggles—Perry Isnoggles. Agent on the 'L.'"

"Thank you. Are you aware, Mr. Isnoggles, that John Milton sold 'Paradise Lost' for only $25—$25 cash and the rest on time?"

"Why"—

"Are you aware that Robert Burns once tried to sell 'Tam O'Shanter' for a suit of clothes worth about $6.50?"

"N—I never heard"—

"Did you know, Mr. Isnoggles," said Editor Clugston, with increasing severity, "that Oliver Goldsmith once sold a poem twenty-five lines long for a glass of ale and three links of sausage, and that Homer refused an offer of a sheepskin for his Iliad because he thought it was worth two sheepskins?"

"I'll take $5 for the poem, Mr. Clugston."

"Perhaps you have never heard, Mr. Isnoggles," pursued the editor, "that Plautus, the Roman poet, would grind out a rondeau at any time for a half pint of shrimps?"

"Say $2.50," suggested the visitor.

"And you did not know, possibly, that Tasso, the Italian poet, hawked a four page poem about the streets of Sorrento for six shillings, and couldn't sell it at that."

"Would $1.50 be too much for this?"

"A dollar and a half for five pages of manuscript that Dryden would have sold, even when he was 50 years old, for half a crown!"

"You can have it for nothing, Mr. Clugston."

"H'm! This will take up—let me see—in leaded long primer at least half a column, Mr. Isnoggles."

"I'd like to have it go in. I wouldn't—er—mind paying you, say 50 cents, Mr. Clugston, if you can make room for it."

"At regular rates, Mr. Isnoggles," replied the editor, "this would come to about $7.50, but I believe in encouraging home poets as much as I can. You are a home poet, are you not?"

"I was raised out here on the Billy farm."

"And on that account," resumed the editor, making a few figures on a sheet of paper before him, "I will come down to an even $5 bill."

"Thank you, Mr. Clugston. It isn't exactly what I had expected, but I"—

"Cash in advance, of course."

Mr. Isnoggles drew out a rather lean wallet, extracted the money therefrom and handed it over.

"Please say nothing about this," said Mr. Clugston grandly, as he put the money in a pocketbook ten times leaner than his visitor's. "I wouldn't do it for everybody."

Mr. Isnoggles expressed his gratitude and walked out.

"Darn a newspaper man that can't devise some way to meet a wash bill!" soliloquized Editor Clugston as he leaned back in his chair and looked at himself in the glass.—Chicago Tribune.

—Attend the doll reception at Mrs. Denman's, Friday afternoon.

—Miss Nellie Flocken is visiting in the city, the guest of her brother, L. H. Flocken.

—Every available gun and dog in the city were brought into use today by sportsmen.

—Mrs. John Schroeder will be at home to her friends Wednesdays and Fridays in December.

—Mrs. C. S. Sellers left for Mt. Vernon today, to remain the balance of the week with friends.

—Train 10 on the Big Four was run in two sections today. The second section consisted of the private car and some of the officials.

—Thanksgiving Day services will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal church at 10:30 a.m. Sermon by the Rector. All are cordially invited.

—A horse hitched to a delivery wagon belonging to Tim Kelly indulged in a runaway this morning. The animal started from his store on Main street and ran around on Center street. It stopped, however, near the place where it started, having made a complete circuit of the square between north Main and East streets.

—Bucyrus Forum: Al Reber, a farmer residing near Marion, was in the city Monday consulting Marshal Lechty regarding a horse that had been stolen. Reber drove to Marion Saturday evening in a road cart and hitched in a public place, but when ready to return home his outfit was missing. Information was sent to surrounding cities but no trace of the thief has yet been found. Investigation on the part of Mr. Lichty proved that a horse and cart of the description given by Mr. Reber was not seen coming in this direction and the owner left for other points.

—Dr. Rhu left today for Cleveland on professional business. His son Herman, who has been attending the Western Reserve University, will join him and return home to spend Thanksgiving.

—The Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church will hold a doll reception at the residence of Mrs. W. C. Denman, on next Friday afternoon, from 2 until 5 o'clock. All children are invited to attend and bring their dolls. Refreshments will be served. Admission 10c.

—Stroble & Uncapher are now selling their lots in the new addition, which is east of the Marion Manufacturing Co. These lots are high and dry and within a few minutes walk of all the shops in the west end of the city. They have priced them very low and in addition will give a discount of 10 per cent. to first purchasers, and they also have arranged to furnish money to parties desiring to build. Call on them at their office in the new Bennett building. [5w,th&sat.]

—D. W. Kessler has sold the C. and A. eating house in this city and the one at Huntington to John P. Breen, who will take possession next Monday. Mr. Kessler axpects to make a permanent retiremant from the railroad eating house business but will remain in Marion for some little time. Those who have learned of Mr. Kessler's splendid business qualities and have enjoyed his affable personality would be glad if he could remain here permanently, and Mrs. Kessler's friends express the same wish.

—Every employe of the Steam Shovel Co.'s works was today at noon presented with a nice, fat turkey for Thanksgiving. It required just 160 turkeys to go around, and every man, young or old, big or little, got a turkey. The presentation was made partially in lieu of the excursion that was intended to have been given during the fall, but which was postponed on account of the sickness and sad death of Manager Barnhart. The STAR was kindly remembered in the distribution, grateful acknowledgment of which is hereby made.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Meeting of the Directors, Tuesday Evening—New Members Admitted.

The board of directors of the Citizens Board of Trade of Marion met at the probate court room Tuesday evening. Those present were President J. F. McNeal, Vice President Julius Strelitz, E. Huber, T. H. B. Beale, B. Tristram, S. G. Kleinmaier, Wm. Bland, J. J. Hane and Harvey Wilson.

Members of the board and president and vice president were sworn in by J. M. McGee, notary public.

Secretary C. W. Leffler refused to qualify, explaining his inability to do so by reason of other engagements and pressure of time. T. H. B. Beale was chosen to that position.

Kling, Hane and Tristram were appointed a committee to draft by-laws.

On motion the president and secretary were made a committee on certificates, with authority for drafting same.

The following names were presented for membership and accepted: F. E. Blake, H. C. Hoberman, F. R. Saiter, Jacob Schoenlaub, W. H. Gordon, J. W. Thew, W. C. Wrapp and J. F. Prendergast.

The board adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

Public School Notes.

The enrollment for the last month is given as follows: Boys 709, girls 679, total 1388. The enrollment for the year is, boys 711, girls 718, total 1429.

The schools that are enabled to report without a single case of tardiness are the High School, Miss Hill and Miss Fite, teachers: the A Grammar, East building, Miss Ruehrmund; A Grammar, Central, Miss Zuck; A Primary, South, Miss Ethel Cunningham; B Primary, East, Miss Grace Cunningham; B Primary, West, Miss Thompson; C Primary, Garden City Pike, Miss Dairy. There were thirteen schools with but one case of tardiness

The highest per cent. of attendance was attained by the A Grammar, East, and D Primary, South, Abbie Gast. The per cent. was 98. The A Grammar, Central, and High School averaged 97.5 per cent. Two others make a showing of 97 per cent. They are the B Primary, North, Miss Peters, and the B Primary, South.

Many of the teachers whose homes are elsewhere than Marion will spend their brief Thanksgiving vacation at home. Sup't Powell and family will spend the day at Wadsworth, Ohio, where Mrs. Powell and son will remain until Sunday. Mr. Powell goes to New Philadelphia Friday and Saturday to attend the meeting of the Eastern Ohio Teachers' Association.

Two Tramps Arrested.

James Morganthaler, a young man about 20 years of age, was the instigator of the arrest of two tramps Tuesday evening. As Morganthaler was going home Tuesday noon, he was accosted by the two tramps at the Main street crossing of the Erie, one of whom asked him for a nickel, and when it was refused, he went through the young man's pockets, while talking to him, and unbeknown to Morganthaler.

Morganthaler states that the same tramp annoyed him again in the evening, and he put the policemen on to the pair, and Garry, Palmer and Acker arrested them and locked them up. Their trial was set for this afternoon.

A Social Session.

This comedy success, accompanied by the grand military Black Hussar Band and All Star Orchestra, will appear at Music Hall, Saturday night, Nov. 29. The Toledo Bee had this to say of the show, after its appearance there in May:

Wheeler's was packed last night to witness "A Social Session." The comedy is bright and sparkling, containing much vocal and instrumental music and many amusing situations. There is nothing dragging nor tedious about it, for it goes along with a hearty vim until the final. It is a meritorious production and will be liberally patronized.

Teachers' Institute.

The following is the program of the Teachers' Institute, to be held in Caledonia, Saturday, Nov. 29:

10:30 a. m.—Music. "Grammar," W. S. Ramer. General discussions.

1 p. m.—Music. "Methods in U. S. History," Sup't W. F. Hufford, LaRue, O. Music. "Mind Culture," Sup't J. J. Bliss, Crestline, O. Paper—"Primary Work," Ollie Bayles, LaRue, O. Query Box.

How to Succeed.

This is the great problem of life which few satisfactorily solve. Some fail because of poor health, others want of luck, but the majority from deficient grit—want of nerve. They are nervous, irresolute, changeable, easily get the blues and "take the spirits down to keep the spirits up," thus wasting money, time, opportunity and nerve force. There is nothing like the Restorative Nervine, discovered by the great specilist, Dr. Miles, to cure all nervous diseases, as headache, the blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, fits, and hysteria. Trial bottles and fine book of testimonials free at Denison & Co.'s and Hoberman & Co.'s.

The Boston Courier says the messenger boy dates back to Solomon's time: Vide Proverbs x, 26: "As vinegar to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the sluggard to them that send him."

It is said that when a man goes up stairs late at night and skips every other stair in an endeavor to keep quiet he always seems to skip the steps that don't creak.

Good news. We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. True croup never appears without a warning. The first symptom is hoarseness, then the child appears to have taken cold or a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar rough cough is developed, which is followed by the croup. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy would prevent the attack. Even after the rough cough has appeared the disease may be prevented by using this remedy as directed. The only safe way is to keep a 50 cent bottle of the Remedy in the house for use whenever symptoms of the disease appear. For sale by L. H. Flocken & Co., druggists.

TRAINMEN'S TROUBLES.

A New Turn in the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Strike.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 26.—The strike among the Chicago and Eastern Illinois trainmen has taken a new and peculiar turn. The men seem to have quit work without word from the officials of their order. This takes the matter out of the hands of the organizations and the officers are taking no part in it.

The switchmen were ordered to return to work yesterday by their grand officials and reported for duty this morning. The fireman have also received instructions not to take part in the strike. This narrows the trouble down to a few trainmen who are not controlled by any organization. General Manager Saul has paid no attention to the demands of the men and is making arrangements to have the places of the strikers filled at once.

Telegraphers' Petition.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 26.—The telegraph operators on the Nickel Plate railroad between Buffalo and Chicago, have presented a petition to General Manager Williams at Cleveland asking for an increase in wages averaging about 20 per cent. A committee of four will seek an interview with Mr. Williams. All the trainmen of the road were last week granted a substantial advance in wages, and the operators claim they are entitled to the same treatment.

Death Warrant Withdrawn.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 26.—The death warrant of Smith, the Allegheny county murderer, who is in an insane asylum, has been withdrawn by the governor.

Mrs. Robert Ray Hamilton Pardoned.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Eva Hamilton, wife of Robert Ray Hamilton, was pardoned Tuesday afternoon. She left the prison Tuesday night.

Two English Authors.

I reached London just too late for the annual authors' dinner, which is one of the events of the season there, and on this account, and because my time was almost entirely taken up by the law business about which I had gone over, I did not meet as many of the literary men as I should have liked to meet. I saw a good deal, however, of Edmund Gosse, who is one of the most polished and delightful of men, and has always been very kind to me. His house is a sort of center, his Sunday evenings being delightful occasions where one may meet a score of writers, sculptors and painters.

Occasionally I met him at lunch at his club, where he would get Austin Dobson, who is, like himself, in an official position in Whitehall, and obtains therefrom the substantials of life which enable him to cultivate the muses on something a little better than "oaten reed." Both Dobson and Gosse are directly in line for the laureateship when it shall fall vacant, though no one knows who will get it. I am indebted to both of them for much personal kindness. Gosse is a good sized, handsome man, of the blonde English type, with the cheeriest face and voice, and wherever he goes it grows warm and comfortable. Dobson is somewhat older. Both of them strike me as being among the most cultured men I ever met. They have English literature at their fingers' ends, and dwell in an atmosphere which is redolent of the masters.—Thomas Nelson Page in Richmond Times.

The Ballot Law Helps the Printer.

One of the most appreciable effects of the new Australian election law is the remarkable boom it has given the job printing business. Never before in the history of elections have the printers been called upon for such vast quantities and varieties of campaign cards and campaign literature generally. Under the new system the personal canvass is the most likely to tell, and hence the use for cards of all dimensions. The confusion existing as to boundary lines of wards and districts has been of benefit to the printer in supplying cards with maps on the back, and best of all is the rage among the candidates to have their portraits printed on their cards.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Joke Saves a Life.

George Busch, of Newark, N. J., was overcome by coal gas a few nights ago while in the cellar attending to a furnace. Two friends who called at the house for him the next morning could not gain admittance. Thinking that he had overslept himself they concluded to get in the back way and play a joke upon him. They opened a cellar window and discovered Busch lying in his night clothes on the floor. He was resuscitated with difficulty.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Value of Cigar Ends.

A man called Auguste, surname unknown, has just died in Paris, leaving behind him the respectable sum of 100,000f., or £4,000, the whole of which comfortable peculium would appear to have been amassed from the profits earned by picking up cigar ends in the streets of the French metropolis.—London Telegraph.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of the same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at Flocken's drug store.

Sugar Burned.

PLAQUEMINE, La., Nov. 26.—The sugar house on Myrtle Grove plantation, containing seventy-five hogsheads of sugar and fifty loads of cane, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss $50,000; insurance $15,000.

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, stimulates the secretions, and imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. For nearly half a century, it has remained unrivaled as the best blood medicine ever discovered. Be convinced by a trial.

SYRUP OF FIGS

Another Correction.

The arrest of the nine tramps in West Marion Monday has been the subject of some misunderstanding as to whom the honor of the detection and arrest belonged. The STAR Tuesday stated on authority of Policeman Palmer and his friends that he was entitled to that glory. We have nothing to say to this but give the sworn statements of Detective W. A. Burns and J. F. Stengle, which are as follows:

"When the tramps saw us approaching two of them started to run, but one stopped when I ordered him to do so; the other one climbed upon a moving train, off which I, Burns, pulled him, and was bringing him back to where the rest of them were standing when Palmer met me. Burns ordered the tramps up in a row and told Palmer to search them, which he did. Burns then handed him a pair of handcuffs and pointing to two of the tramps told him (Palmer) to put the bracelets upon them, which he did also. Burns then told Palmer to take the two who were handcuffed and he started off with the five, while Palmer with his prisoners brought up the rear.

The above refers to the arrest of seven, two having previously been arrested by Burns and locked up. After this was done, I, Burns, went past the Mayor's office, where I saw Palmer and asked him if he was going along, and he replied that he was.

W. A. BURNS,
"J. F. STENGLE."

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence by the above named, W. A. Burns and J. F. Stengle, this 26th day of November, 1890.

A Pretty Swift Baby.

A great many Marionites have very kind recollections of Engineer and Mrs. John Berry, who left Marion for Chicago in the summer. The following letter will explain itself:

CHICAGO, Nov. 24, 1890.

My Dear Mrs. Gregg:—The prettiest little baby in the world arrived in Chicago, Nov. 20, 1890, at 35 minutes and 35 seconds past 1 a. m. That baby is myself, and I do not hesitate to say that I will promulgate new ideas of infantile beauty, intelligence and health. My papa says I am a Kid with a capital K. I weigh only 5½ pounds. Mamma is doing beautifully. Give my love to all of mamma's and papa's friends in Marion.

Very Sincerely Yours,
DOROTHY BERRY.

LEADING OPTICIAN
—OF—
CENTRAL OHIO.

DR. B. MINCER, the Eminent Optician, has settled here permanently, having rented a room in Hotel Marion Block, East Center Street, and opened a line of optical goods that is equal to any city establishment. With [illegible] years of practical experience, during which time thousands have been perfectly fitted with glasses, and, with a perfect stock of goods at hand, Dr. Mincer is prepared to fix your eyes perfectly.

Gold Frame Spectacles at from $3 to $[illegible], and Steel, Rubber and Silver Framed Glasses at from 50c to $12, the prices depending on the Lenses. All glasses fitted without instrumental test, and the eyes are not tired out with repeated trials, but glasses fitted at once, where fitting is at all possible. Parties needing glasses are invited to call whether they buy or not.

UNDERWEAR!

YOU should see our stock of Ladies Underwear in the White, Red Natural Wool and the Black. We have as fine a line of these goods as was ever put on the market. In CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR our Natural Wool can not be beat.
